CONVINCE ME TO

CONVINCE ME TO

The company began operations in 1980 with a practical focus on supplying industrial sewing machines and stitching solutions to apparel manufacturers. Working as Stitchman, the early years were spent learning how production lines function, how machines behave under load, and how fabrics respond during long-run manufacturing. These fundamentals shaped the way the company approached production as it grew.

In 1996, this expertise naturally expanded into bag manufacturing, where apparel-grade craftsmanship was applied to durable, functional textile products. This marked our entry into large-scale production and positioned us as dependable canvas bag manufacturers for brands seeking consistency, strength, and thoughtful design.

As global demand increased, Stitchman Inc. was formally incorporated in 2012 as a full-scale OEM manufacturing company, producing canvas bags and lifestyle accessories for international markets. Our focus on process, materials, and reliability established us as a trusted bulk bag supplier for brands worldwide.

To address the needs of the U.S. wholesale and promotional market, Rhombus Canvas LLC was established in 2017. Stitchman Inc. continues to operate as the parent manufacturing entity and a recognized bag manufacturer in India, while Rhombus manages market-facing operations in the United States.

CUSTOMIZABLE for your brand

Each canvas weight (oz) is available in multiple color options. For example, our 10 oz canvas comes in over 20 colors and is commonly used as trim for styles such as the Ventura Tote, Lofty Tote, and more. We offer a curated selection of stock colors for quick production, and many products can also be customized based on the color availability of each canvas weight. As another example, our heavier 24 oz canvas is offered in classic shades such as navy, black, and natural. Together, these options provide a versatile foundation for building products that meet both performance needs and brand aesthetics.
